TAFT CENSURES
HENNEY AND BURNS

Criticises Their Methods of Obtaining Land Fraud Jury.

CONDUCT MERITS CONDEMNATION

Pardon of Willard A. Jones Granted Because of Illegal Means Used to Select Jurors—Names Not in Jury Box.

Washington, June 7.—Declaring that their conduct in helping in obtaining a jury merits the severest condemnation, President Taft in his pardon of Willard A. Jones, convicted of participation in the famous Oregon land frauds mentions Detective William J. Burns and Francis J. Henney member of the national Republican committee by name.

The text of the order for pardon, which is brief, has not been made public. It states, however, that the pardon is granted because of illegal methods followed in securing the jury and it condemns the government prosecutors.

List Made in Henney's Office.
It was stated at the department of justice that the attorney general is in possession of positive evidence that the grand jury which brought the second series of indictments in the Oregon cases was not drawn from a jury box, but that a list of 23 names was made up in Henney's office after the men had been canvassed and found suitable to the government's purpose. These men, it is charged, readily indicted the defendants brought before it by Henney and Burns. It is even declared that Henney selected the foreman and secretary of the grand jury before the inquisitorial body was sworn in.

A list of more than a thousand prospective jurors with the comments by Burns and his agents upon their conviction or acquittal tendencies, is in possession of the department. It is charged that not a single name was allowed to go into the jury panel except those of men who had been marked as favoring conviction.

Made Up Grand Jury.

Of the list of conviction men, a list of 23 was kept to make up a grand jury. These names, according to the evidence of the department never went into the box at all. It is charged that the clerk of the court, conniving with the prosecution, simply listed the names as having been drawn.

In cipher telegrams which passed between Burns and the office of Mr. Hitchcock, then secretary of the interior, Senator Mitchell of Oregon was referred to as a "pork" senator, Fulton as "nails" and Henney as "silver." The name of Oswald West, now governor of Oregon, figures prominently in the record of the case. At the time of the land fraud trials West was a member of Burns' staff and reported on a number of well-known citizens.

West reported to Burns that on August 12, 1905, Jacob Ogle of Marion county, expressed himself for conviction. Ogle's name went into the box on August 17 with the other man who stood for conviction. Another report from the Oregon governor states that on August 8, 1905, F. L. Pound declared that Congressman Williamson ought to be "turned loose." Pound's name was stricken from Burns' list and he did not go in the box.

MYSTERY IN PAOLA MURDER

Man and His Wife Found in Bed With Heads Crushed.

ROBBERY WAS NOT THE MOTIVE

Kimono of Slain Woman Found in Neighbor's House After Intruder Had Been Seen and Chased Away.

Paola, Kan., June 7.—Rollin Hudson, 21 years old, and his wife, Anna, were found by a neighbor, murdered, at their home here. Both bodies lay on a bed in a pool of blood. The walls were spattered with blood, the room in a disordered condition and the heads of both the husband and the wife crushed with some sort of a bludgeon.

No trace of the murderer has been found and the sheriff, Marion Chandler, is unable to decide as to the motive for the crime.

At 8:30 o'clock Mrs. Pryor, who lives next door, saw a man on the porch with Mr. and Mrs. Hudson. The stranger was talking in a harsh voice. He afterwards went into the house and Mrs. Pryor saw no more of them.

Mrs. George Coe, who lives across the street, says that in the middle of the night she heard painful cries, but did not think much of it until the bodies were found.

Burglar in a Kimono.

During the night a burglar broke into Mrs. J. L. Longmeyer's house, three doors west of the Hudsons, but was scared away by the cries of Mrs. Longmeyer. In the morning a kimono that was identified as that of Mrs. Hudson was found in Mrs. Longmeyer's home. It is believed the murderer attired himself in the kimono after killing the Hudsons.

Hudson and his wife came here from Massillon, O. They had been married about two years and in that time had separated twice. Only last Sunday had they agreed to live together again. Robbery was not the motive for the crime, as nothing in the house was disturbed.

The Slayer an Avenger?

The murder had been committed possibly 15 hours before it was discovered. The neighbors had not seen anyone around the Hudson house all day, and about 3 o'clock in the afternoon they forced an entrance and found the bodies.

From all indications the killing was the work of someone who had a grudge against Hudson and his wife and had followed them here from Ohio. Mrs. Hudson's father, Jacob Axte, lives at Massillon.

GOT HIS PRICE FOR CORN AT LAST

Kansas Man Held Crop Four Years, Refusing Less Than 80 Cents—Has 10,000 Bushels.

Cottonwood Falls, Kan., June 7.—After holding his corn crop which he refused to sell for less than 80 cents a bushel for four years, C. C. Smith, one of the most widely known farmers of Cedar Point, has kept his word and was at last offered his price. Now he is unloading nearly 10,000 bushels of corn.

For storing and holding grain for long periods, Smith, undoubtedly, holds the state record.

If Smith sells all of his 10,000 bushels of corn before his new wheat crop comes on, it will be the first time in 25 years that all of his cribs and granaries, which fill a barnyard nearly as large as a city block, will have been entirely empty.

KEEP THE KIDNEYS WELL.

Health is Worth Saving, and Some Maryville People Know How to Save It.

Many Maryville people take their lives in their hands by neglecting the kidneys when they know these organs need help. Sick kidneys are responsible for a vast amount of suffering and ill health, but there is no need to suffer nor to remain in danger. Use Doan's Kidney Pills—a remedy that has cured thousands of kidney sufferers.

The following statement leaves no ground for doubt.

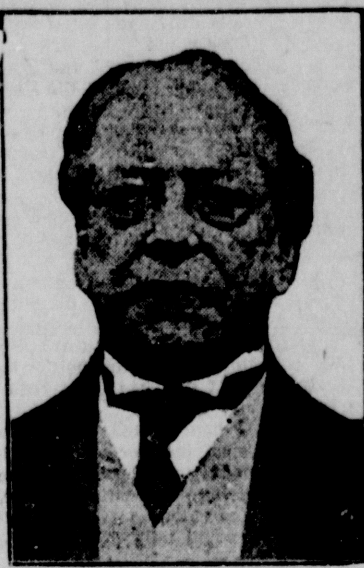

Mrs. W. M. Newsan, Chestnut street, Savannah, Mo., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills have been of more benefit to me than any other kidney remedy I have ever used, and in view of this fact I willingly recommend them. I was caused much suffering from pains in my shoulders, and mornings on arising I felt tired and languid. I was also bothered by difficulty with the kidney secretions. Hearing Doan's Kidney Pills highly spoken of, I got a box and soon after beginning their use, I was relieved. Another member of my family has also taken this remedy with satisfactory results."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

TRENTON GETS NEW RAILROAD

COMMUNITY CO-OPERATION IDEA PROVES A WINNER.

Forty Miles Right-of-Way Needed is Now Signed Up—Other Towns Ask About "Trenton Idea."

Trenton, Mo., June 7.—The "Trenton idea," which in a month doubled Trenton's boosting population, giving it a Commercial club of 500 members, is now building a railroad.

The primary efficiency of the "Trenton idea" lay in doing away with the spirit of "offishness" between country and town. On this basis a new commercial club—half its members farmers—came into existence.

The new Trenton Commercial club has succeeded in having signed up 40 miles of right-of-way needed by a railroad which is to pass from the recently opened coal fields at Gainsville, Mo., through Trenton to Chillicothe, Mo., joining the Wabash, Burlington and Milwaukee roads.

Chillicothe's representatives, when they got home from Trenton's recent banquet, sent three heavy drags to make over the 25 miles of highway between the two towns. Then Trenton dragged back to Chillicothe, with the result that a weekly "good roads day" has been established.

The volume of its mail since the "Trenton idea" gained publicity has caused the club's new publicity committee to open an auxiliary information bureau. Many towns are seeking to learn how Trenton worked out its new scheme, and Trenton in turn is looking forward to a federation of country towns bound together with the mutual interests of country and city.

ST. JOSEPH HAS POLICE WRANGLE

Governor Hadley Called in to Settle Difficulties Between Men and Commission.

St. Joseph, Mo., June 7.—Gov. Hadley is in St. Joseph to settle a number of difficulties that have arisen in the police department here. Charles H. Haskell, chief of police, returned from a visit to the Pacific coast and found that the police commission had directed that he be allowed no pay for the time he was absent. Chief Haskell at once appealed to the governor, who will take up the matter with the commissioners.

There is a deadlock in the police board over the selection of a successor to Charles Roderick, police captain, who died several weeks ago, and the governor will be called upon to solve this problem also.

Vote for Open Committee Sessions Suits Both McKinley and Dixon.

READY FOR CONTEST HEARINGS

Taft and Roosevelt Leaders in Conference With Campaign Managers on Plans for Big Struggle.

Chicago, June 7.—Taft and Roosevelt members of the Republican national committee hurried to downtown hotel headquarters at the conclusion of the first formal meeting of the committee and went into conference with campaign managers and advisers to decide plans for the beginning of contest hearings before the committee in the morning.

Taft leaders declared that the single recorded vote taken in committee meeting, that on admission of press reporters, disclosed the lineup between Taft and Roosevelt adherents.

The Roosevelt managers, however, insisted that the vote was without significance or value in attempting to measure the relative strengths of the opposing camps.

Both Claim Victory.

Senator Dixon, when told of the committee action in voting for sessions open to the press, stated that the decision was a victory in the committee for Col. Roosevelt.

"This is the first time we ever have had any publicity of these matters at all, and it is the result of the demand made by the friends of Col. Roosevelt."

McKinley also claimed for Taft forces credit for open sessions of the national committee. In this connection he said:

"President Taft recently directed to the Hon. Harry S. New of Indiana, chairman of the subcommittee on arrangements of the Republican national committee, a letter asking that the fullest possible publicity be given the proceedings preliminary to the national convention."

"In accordance with the request of the president, the Republican national committee voted to admit to its meetings representatives of the newspaper associations serving practically every daily newspaper in the country with their news service."

Hilles Arrives.

Charles D. Hilles, secretary to the president, arrived and joined Representative McKinley at the Taft headquarters. He is in direct touch by special wire with the White House at Washington and is keeping Mr. Taft constantly advised of developments.

The Rosewater and Howell contest, it was expected before the committee met, would develop the first test of strength between the Taft and Roosevelt members, and its postponement was variously construed.

TRAIN WRECK CAUSED BY STORM

Engineer of Freight Was Unable to See Flagman Because of Blinding Rain.

Fort Smith, Ark., June 7.—In a blinding rain storm a southbound St. Louis & San Francisco freight train crashed into the rear end of a preceding freight train between Purdy and Monett, Mo., at midnight. Three men were injured, hundreds of chickens and sheep killed and great property loss resulted. The storm was so severe that the first freight train was forced to stop as it reached the foot of a four-mile hill. A flagman was sent out to warn the on-coming freight train but the latter ran past the flagman because of the darkness and torrent of rain.

NEW BAGGAGE RULES SUSPENDED

Commerce Commission Holds Up Proposed Change—Would be Hardship to Travelers.

Washington, June 7.—New regulations of transportation of baggage proposed by nearly every railroad in the United States, which in effect would advance the rates on "excess," were suspended by the interstate commerce commission effective July 1 pending investigation. The new regulations sought to prohibit the carriage of certain size pieces.

The commission believes that the fixing by the roads of the dimensions of baggage will work an unnecessary hardship upon travelers.

Laborer Defied Meningitis.

St. Joseph, Mo., June 7.—William Woods, a laborer is recovering from an aggravated attack of spinal meningitis. For three days he resisted all efforts to use the serum treatment and only consented when told that it was his only chance for life. Physicians say that the serum is rarely effective unless used within 24 hours after falling ill.

SHOTS END FAMILY QUARREL

GRANDPARENTS WOUNDED PROTECTING CHILD.

Father of Boy Then Commits Suicide When Hard Pressed by Angry Crowd.

Leonard, Mo., June 7.—While protecting their grandchild, Charles Upton and his wife were shot and dangerously wounded by Thomas Ralls, their son-in-law. To escape being captured, Ralls committed suicide.

Ralls was separated from his wife, who had left him several months ago on account of mistreatment, and, with her two-year-old son, came to live with her parents. Ralls had made several attempts to get the child. May 1 he came to his father-in-law's home and demanded the boy. Upton refused to let him take the child and picked it up and started for a buggy. Angered by the refusal Ralls said:

"I'll have the child or your life." With that Upton fired at Ralls, slightly injuring him. Ralls then had Upton arrested, but he was discharged as he had acted in self-defense.

Early in the morning Ralls went to the Upton home. The family saw him coming and hid the boy in the closet. Without knocking, Ralls entered and began shooting. One shot struck Upton in the chest and penetrated the lung. Another bullet struck his wife.

The shots attracted the neighbors and Ralls fled. Officers and a crowd followed and overtook him three miles from town. As they came up he shot himself in the head and died within a few minutes.

Upton's chances of recovery are slight, but Mrs. Upton's wounds are not dangerous.

A HARMLESS WAY TO DARKEN THE HAIR

A Little Sage and Sulphur Makes Gray Hair Vanish—A Remedy for All Hair Troubles.

Who does not know the value of Sage and Sulphur for keeping the hair dark, soft and glossy and in good condition. As a matter of fact, Sulphur is a natural element of hair, and a deficiency of it in the hair is held by many scalp specialists to be connected with loss of color and vitality of the hair. Unquestionably, there is no better remedy for hair and scalp troubles, especially premature grayness, than Sage and Sulphur, if properly prepared.

The Wyeth Chemical Company of New York put out an ideal preparation of this kind, called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, in which Sage and Sulphur are combined with other valuable remedies for keeping the hair and scalp in clean, healthy condition.

If your hair is losing its color or constantly coming out, or if you are troubled with dandruff or dry, itchy scalp, get a fifty cent bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur from your druggist, use it according to the simple directions, and see what a difference a few days' treatment will make in the appearance of your hair.

All druggists sell it, under guarantee that the money will be refunded if the remedy is not exactly as represented. Special Agent, Koch Pharmacy.

Save Their Cost
Every Year of Use

If you are thinking about buying a cream separator, and have only a small amount of ready cash to invest, don't be tempted to put your money into one of the so-called, "cheap" machines.

Why pay your hard-earned money for a "cheap," trashy machine, when you can buy a reliable De Laval upon such liberal terms that

It will more than earn its cost while you are paying for it.

When you buy a De Laval you have positive assurance that your machine will be good for at least twenty years of service, during which time it will save every possible dollar for you and earn its original cost over and over again.

If you purchase the so-called "cheap" separator, you must pay cash in advance and then take the chance of the machine becoming worthless after a year or two of use, to say nothing of the cream it will waste while it does last. More De Laval machines are in use than any other make. There is a reason. Come in and we will tell you why.

Grandma's Colic

By John Philip Orth

(Copyright, 1912, by Associated Literary Press.)

Grandma Burbanks had a little grandson, six years old, and that little grandson and 5 cents' worth of raw peanuts brought about a case of the colic, a thunder-storm, a misunderstanding, a case of love and a very happy marriage. When all was over the old lady thought she had done very well for a woman of her age.

It was the grandson that bought the raw peanuts and brought them home to divide them with grandma. She couldn't have eaten a peck, for there were not that many to begin on, but at eight o'clock in the evening, as she was tucked away in her bed, the pains began. Mr. and Mrs. Burbanks were away for the night. Harry, the son, twenty-three years old, was in town and not expected until the midnight train; the grandson was asleep, and the house was in charge of Miss Dorothy, aged nineteen.

There are various remedies for colic. There are hot drinks, mustard plasters and whisky with pepper in it, and it may be cured in ten minutes or everything may be found useless. After Miss Dorothy had worked away for half an hour she decided that the doctor must be sent for.

"Is that Dr. Holmes?" she asked when she telephoned in to the village, three miles away.

"The doctor is out and not expected back until after midnight," was the reply.

Dr. Winchell was tried. He was also out. The druggist thought he could put up something for that colic, but he had no boy to send. Grandma groaned out with every breath that that breath was the last she expected to draw in this world. The girl must take the risks of such an exposure! Sore throat, cold in the head and backache to pay for this. Say, Doc, it would serve you blank right if some of the people inside fired a charge of bird-shot at you and drove you off. Lands, but how it does pour!"

Miss Dorothy had heard the man call himself a doctor, and her thoughts leaped to poor old grandma. She knew the doctors she had telephoned for, and this was neither of them. The case demanded a little boldness on her part, however, and she advanced a step or two and asked:

"Did I understand you to say you were a doctor?"

After a jump aside and an exclamation of "Good Lord!" the man replied:

"I can't make out who you are, but I am a doctor, driven to shelter by the storm. If I trespass I am ready to go."

"No, no. I had started to the village after medicine for my grandmother when the storm drove me back. She is suffering with the colic, and I should call this an act of Providence if we could only get into the house."

"Locked out, eh? I am a new doctor just about to set up practice in the village, and I have a bag of remedies with me. Let's see what sort of a burglar I am. Perhaps one of my keys will open the door."

One of them did, and as soon as he could throw off some of his outer garments he was at the bedside of his patient. Grandma was having a hard time of it. Indeed, it was hours before she was easier, and the two worked over her now and then, and now and then had opportunity to talk. A doctor with his first patient, and a girl with a grandmother suffering from so many raw peanuts, don't have to stand on ice-cold formality.

When Harry reached the house from the midnight train he almost made up his mind that they were quite chummy. He didn't do any criticizing, however. He loved his grandmother, was happy her life had been saved, and he wasn't the kind of brother to offer his advice simply because he had a sister. The only thing he did say was after breakfast, and that was partly to himself:

"The ways of Providence are past finding out. Those peanuts and that thunderstorm may bring me a brother-in-law."

"You need some one to get you home earlier," was the reply; and matters rested there.

Grandma heard all about the storm and the providential appearance of Dr. Burnett, and when he called the next afternoon to see if she had fully recovered she was very grateful. Mr. and Mrs. Burbanks were in the room with the patient and doctor, but that did not prevent the old lady from saying to her son:

"James, I thought surely my time had come, and there was only one thing that I worried about. You know what I have often said to you?"

"I don't recall it at this minute," was the reply.

"Why, that we ought to have a doctor in the family. We can't get one through Harry, but we can through Dorothy. I wish you would have a talk with her today."

Just what the son and his wife thought, and just how the blushing girl got out of the room without falling over the rugs is not recorded, but this much the historian knows—the doctor bent forward at just the right instant to feel grandma's pulse and to warn her that at her age a person shouldn't swallow too many wooden toothpicks nor eat too many raw turnips just before going to bed. He didn't look over-red nor over-pale when he left the house, half an hour later.

Dr. Burnett became popular in the village. In driving out that way he always had time to make a call at the Burbanks' mansion, and after a bit it rather looked as if Miss Dorothy expected him about once in so often, but it was months and months before grandma's mind was put at rest. After saying that she expected the next attack of colic to carry her off she said:

"That is, unless we have a doctor in the family."

"He—he asked me today if the family would take him in!" was the whispered reply from behind her chair.

"And you said the family would—and we will—and oh, dear me, I almost wish I had the colic again and was hearing the angels strumming on their harps!"

Why We Rap on Wood.

In Farm and Fireside is the following explanation of the origin of the superstition that rapping on wood is a good thing to do when one makes a boast:

"The superstition of rapping on wood when one has been betrayed into boasting of a special bit of luck, like immunity from illness, etc., is of German origin. The raps were supposed to drive away evil spirits vexed by vaunted happiness or any piece of good fortune."

"The three raps originally signified the three persons of the Trinity, Father, Son and Holy Ghost, and the necessity for rapping on wood was because that has the material of the cross."

Echoes From the Woods.

"Woodman," said the man who quotes poetry but lamely, "withhold the ax with which you are about to lay low this sturdy oak, thereby preserving a valuable asset to posterity and sparing yourself greater fatigue than the object striven for justifies."

"I see," replied the woodman; "you are a man of scientific ideas and seek to employ the energy of conservation to the conservation of energy."

Grandma Was Having a Hard Time of It.

harness the pony and drive to the village for the remedy. Grandma might die during her absence, but she promised to live if she possibly could. As she was deaf, the house would have to be locked up.

Miss Dorothy was so rattled that she didn't notice the thunderstorm coming up until she had driven a mile or more. Then a flash and a reverberation and a few drops showed her that she was in for a time. Five minutes later and the pony refused to face the storm. When held up to it he wheeled and started for home on a gallop, and did not pause until he had brought up under a shed. The girl ran for the house to discover that she was locked out. A spring-lock and her mislaid key had done it. She tried window after window in vain. It was no use to call to a deaf woman in her bed upstairs, or hope to awaken the boy whose peanuts had brought the trouble about. The girl was cowering on the veranda, dodging the flashes and scolding herself and all others, when the lightning showed her the figure of a man with a bag in his hand coming up the walk. He looked long and lank, and he dripped gallons of water.

The stranger was after shelter. He did not ring the bell, but got what shelter the veranda afforded and did not even look around him. Miss Dorothy was ten feet away, and believed the stranger a tramp until he muttered:

"Well, of all the blank fools in this state you take the cake!"

He had the voice of a gentleman, and he swore like a gentleman. A real gentleman's swearing is not swearing. It is only for emphasis. Instead of being shocked, Miss Dorothy waited to hear:

"No hurry to start out tonight, and yet you were blank fool enough to think it would be a romantic walk! Well, you've got the romance of it! Soaked from head to heel and more coming!"

Miss Dorothy liked the voice. She liked to realize that she wasn't the only fool to start out in the face of the storm. She liked it when the stranger gave himself a shake like a collie dog after a swim, and mumbled:

"Call yourself a doctor and yet run

TO NOMINATE CLARK.

Senator Reed Will Probably Make the Speech at Baltimore Convention.

It is reported from Washington that Senator James A. Reed of Missouri will make the speech at the Baltimore convention placing Champ Clark in nomination. Speaker Clark, however, says that he has not made up his mind whom he shall ask to deliver the speech.

The honor will devolve on a member of the Missouri delegation and, almost certainly, on one of the delegates at large. Mr. Clark will make the selection. Senator Reed is a delegate at large.

Speaker Clark, within a few days, will select his orator, and also will announce his direct representative on the floor of the National Convention.

It is reasonably certain that Senator Stone will be given the latter responsibility. In fact there are reasons for stating that if Mr. Clark is nominated, Mr. Stone will be made the chairman of the Democratic National Committee. In that case, Senator Stone would manage the campaign.

Prospects continue to point toward Senator O'Gorman of New York as temporary chairman at Baltimore, but some of the leaders prefer Theodore E. Bell of California, who served at the Denver convention four years ago.

Famous Clairvoyant and Astrologer Here

Bernay of St. Louis is for One Week Only at 201 Fourth Street, Corner of Buchanan.

Prof. Bernay is the Clairvoyant who located J. W. Graham of St. Joseph, a young man, who had been missing two years. Mrs. Graham, the mother, consulted Mr. Bernay, who while in a clairvoyant condition stated that the man was an enlisted sailor on the Battleship Kearsarge and that he would be found there. Telegraphic inquiry confirmed the prediction.

Mr. Julius Daniel of Joplin is now a wealthy mine owner, but 2 years ago was working in a mine at $3.00 a day in that city. By mere accident he met Mr. Bernay, who pointed out an opportunity to him. Mr. Daniel acted upon the advice with the result that as he writes in a letter of thanks to Mr. Bernay, "It started me on the road to success and in ten months was worth $18,000.00 to me."

Miss F. D. of St. Joseph consulted with Bernay after circumstances had broken up a dear friendship between her and a prominent young professional man. In two weeks time through the clairvoyant's advice and help the trouble was settled and the friendship renewed with marriage as a near result.

John Emerson, a prosperous farmer living near Springfield, had buried his money in his backyard, having no faith in banks. He died on April 21, 1910, suddenly without having time to tell the family about this. When no money was found, a son consulted with Mr. Bernay and this resulted in the recovery of $4,200.00 and valuable papers.

Without asking a single question of his caller, Bernay reveals every important event in his client's life even to the meaning of them in full, showing them how to attain the success they desire in business, investments, speculation, love, courtship, marriage, divorce, lost or absent friends, lawsuits, fortunes, money affairs, health, wills, deeds or anything they may be in doubt about and all be assured of the proper advice and help.

Mr. Bernay may be consulted daily (except Sunday) from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m. His charges for consultation are reduced for the first 3 days to 50 cents and $1.00. Everything strictly confidential.

TAFT CENSURES
HENNEY AND BURNS

Criticises Their Methods of Obtaining Land Fraud Jury.

CONDUCT MERITS CONDEMNATION

Pardon of Willard A. Jones Granted
Because of Illegal Means Used to Select Jurors—Names
Not in Jury Box.

Washington, June 7.—Declaring that their conduct in helping in obtaining a jury merits the severest condemnation, President Taft in his pardon of Willard A. Jones, convicted of participation in the famous Oregon land frauds mentions Detective Willam J. Burns and Francis J. Henney member of the national Republican committee by name.

The text of the order for pardon, which is brief, has not been made public. It states, however, that the pardon is granted because of illegal methods followed in securing the jury and it condemns the government prosecutors.

List Made in Henney's Office.

It was stated at the department of justice that the attorney general is in possession of positive evidence that the grand jury which brought the second series of indictments in the Oregon cases was not drawn from a jury box, but that a list of 23 names was made up in Henney's office after the men had been canvassed and found suitable to the government's purpose. These men, it is charged, readily indicted the defendants brought before it by Henney and Burns.

It is even declared that Henney selected the foreman and secretary of the grand jury before the inquisitorial body was sworn in.
A list of more than a thousand prospective jurors with the comments by Burns and his agents upon their conviction or acquittal tendencies, is in possession of the department. It is charged that not a single name was allowed to go into the jury panel except those of men who had been marked as favoring conviction.

Made Up Grand Jury.

Of the list of conviction men, a list of 23 was kept to make up a grand jury. These names, according to the evidence of the department never went into the box at all. It is charged that the clerk of the court, conniving with the prosecution, simply listed the names as having been drawn.

In cipher telegrams which passed between Burns and the office of Mr.
Hitchcock, then secretary of the interior, Senator Mitchell of Oregon was referred to as a "pork" senator, Fulton as "nails" and Henney as "silver."
The name of Oswald West, now governor of Oregon, figures prominently in the record of the case. At the time of the land fraud trials West was a member of Burns' staff and reported on a number of well-known citizens.

West reported to Burns that on August 12, 1905, Jacob Ogle of Marion county, expressed himself for conviction. Ogle's name went into the box on August 17 with the other man who stood for conviction. Another report from the Oregon governor states that on August 8, 1905, F. L. Pound declared that Congressman Williamson ought to be "turned loose." Pound's name was stricken from Burns' list and he did not go in the box.

Met With Mrs. Linville.
The Womens' Foreign Missionary
Society of the First M. E. Church met Thursday afternoon at "Fairview," the home of Mrs. J. T. Linville, with thirty members present. The devotional service was led by Mrs. Preston Seafers and Miss Sallie Avey. Roll call was responded to by texts on the temperance question. Two very excellent papers were given by Mrs. L.
L. Holbrook and Mrs. A. Kern. Mrs.
Holbrook took the place of Mrs. J. S.
Ford, who was sick and unable to be present. Her subject was "Our Orphanages and Where are They?" The subject of Mrs. Kern's paper was "The Temperance Question as Connected With Missionary Work." The round table discussion on "How I Became Interested in Foreign Mission Work," brought out a feast of fine experiences from every one present and the time for closing the meeting was long past before anyone knew it, the discussion continuing all through the social hour, when refreshments of ice cream, strawberries and wafers were served by Mrs. J. P. Price, Mrs. Ada Jones, Miss Avey and Mrs. A. R. Perrin. A duet, "Lend a Hand in the Work of the World," was sung by Mrs. W. B.
Christie and Mrs. Charles McNeal.

MYSTERY IN PAOLA MURDER

Man and His Wife Found in Bed With Heads Crushed.

ROBBERY WAS NOT THE MOTIVE

Kimono of Slain Woman Found in Neighbor's House After Intruder Had Been Seen and Chased Away.

Paola, Kan., June 7.—Rollin Hudson, 21 years old, and his wife, Anna, were found by a neighbor, murdered, at their home here. Both bodies lay on a bed in a pool of blood. The walls were spattered with blood, the room in a disordered condition and the heads of both the husband and the wife crushed with some sort of a bludgeon.

No trace of the murderer has been found and the sheriff, Marion Chandler, is unable to decide as to the motive for the crime.

At 8:30 o'clock Mrs. Pryor, who lives next door, saw a man on the porch with Mr. and Mrs. Hudson. The stranger was talking in a harsh voice. He afterwards went into the house and Mrs. Pryor saw no more of them. Mrs. George Coe, who lives across the street, says that in the middle of the night she heard painful cries, but did not think much of it until the bodies were found.

Burglar in a Kimono.
 During the night a burglar broke into Mrs. J. L. Longmeyer's house, three doors west of the Hudsons, but was scared away by the cries of Mrs. Longmeyer. In the morning a kimono that was identified as that of Mrs. Hudson was found in Mrs. Longmeyer's home. It is believed the murderer attired himself in the kimono after killing the Hudsons.

Hudson and his wife came here from Massillon, O. They had been married about two years and in that time had separated twice. Only last Sunday had they agreed to live together again. Robbery was not the motive for the crime, as nothing in the house was disturbed.

The Slayer an Avenger?
 The murder had been committed possibly 15 hours before it was discovered. The neighbors had not seen anyone around the Hudson house all day, and about 3 o'clock in the afternoon they forced an entrance and found the bodies.

From all indications the killing was the work of someone who had a grudge against Hudson and his wife and had followed them here from Ohio. Mrs. Hudson's father, Jacob Axte, lives at Massillon.

GOT HIS PRICE FOR CORN AT LAST

Kansas Man Held Crop Four Years, Refusing Less Than 80 Cents—Has 10,000 Bushels.

Cottonwood Falls, Kan., June 7.—After holding his corn crop which he refused to sell for less than 80 cents a bushel for four years, C. C. Smith, one of the most widely known farmers of Cedar Point, has kept his word and was at last offered his price. Now he is unloading nearly 10,000 bushels of corn.

For storing and holding grain for long periods, Smith, undoubtedly, holds the state record.

If Smith sells all of his 10,000 bushels of corn before his new wheat crop comes on, it will be the first time in 25 years that all of his cribs and granaries, which fill a barnyard nearly as large as a city block, will have been entirely empty.

KEEP THE KIDNEYS WELL.

Health is Worth Saving, and Some Maryville People Know How to Save It.

Many Maryville people take their lives in their hands by neglecting the kidneys when they know these organs need help. Sick kidneys are responsible for a vast amount of suffering and ill health, but there is no need to suffer nor to remain in danger. Use Doan's Kidney Pills—a remedy that has cured thousands of kidney sufferers.

The following statement leaves no ground for doubt.

Mrs. W. M. Newsan, Chestnut street, Savannah, Mo., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills have been of more benefit to me than any other kidney remedy I have ever used, and in view of this fact I willingly recommend them. I was caused much suffering from pains in my shoulders, and mornings on arising I felt tired and languid. I was also bothered by difficulty with the kidney secretions. Hearing Doan's Kidney Pills highly spoken of, I got a box and soon after beginning their use, I was relieved. Another member of my family has also taken this remedy with satisfactory results."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

TRENTON GETS NEW RAILROAD

COMMUNITY CO-OPERATION IDEA PROVES A WINNER.

Forty Miles Right-of-Way Needed is Now Signed Up—Other Towns Ask About "Trenton Idea."

Trenton, Mo., June 7.—The "Trenton idea," which in a month doubled Trenton's boosting population, giving it a Commercial club of 500 members, is now building a railroad.

The primary efficiency of the "Trenton idea" lay in doing away with the spirit of "offishness" between country and town. On this basis a new commercial club—half its members farmers—came into existence.

The new Trenton Commercial club has succeeded in having signed up 40 miles of right-of-way needed by a railroad which is to pass from the recently opened coal fields at Gainsville, Mo., through Trenton to Chillicothe, Mo., joining the Wabash, Burlington and Milwaukee roads.

Chillicothe's representatives, when they got home from Trenton's recent banquet, sent three heavy drags to make over the 25 miles of highway between the two towns. Then Trenton dragged back to Chillicothe, with the result that a weekly "good roads day" has been established.

The volume of its mail since the "Trenton idea" gained publicity has caused the club's new publicity committee to open an auxiliary information bureau. Many towns are seeking to learn how Trenton worked out its new scheme, and Trenton in turn is looking forward to a federation of country towns bound together with the mutual interests of country and city.

St. Joseph, Mo., June 7.—Gov. Hadley is in St. Joseph to settle a number of difficulties that have arisen in the police department here. Charles H. Chief Haskell at once appealed to the governor, who will take up the matter with the commissioners.

There is a deadlock in the police board over the selection of a successor to Charles Roderick, police captain, who died several weeks ago, and the governor will be called upon to solve this problem also.

Vote for Open Committee Sessions Suits Both McKinley and Dixon.

READY FOR CONTEST HEARINGS

Taft and Roosevelt Leaders in Conference With Campaign Managers on Plans for Big Struggle.

Chicago, June 7.—Taft and Roosevelt members of the Republican national committee hurried to downtown hotel headquarters at the conclusion of the first formal meeting of the committee and went into conference with campaign managers and advisers to decide plans for the beginning of contest hearings before the committee in the morning.

Taft leaders declared that the single recorded vote taken in committee meeting, that on admission of press reporters, disclosed the lineup between Taft and Roosevelt adherents.

The Roosevelt managers, however, insisted that the vote was without significance or value in attempting to measure the relative strengths of the opposing camps.

Both Claim Victory.

Senator Dixon, when told of the committee action in voting for sessions open to the press, stated that the decision was a victory in the committee for Col. Roosevelt.

"This is the first time we ever have had any publicity of these matters at all, and it is the result of the demand made by the friends of Col. Roosevelt."

McKinley also claimed for Taft forces credit for open sessions of the national committee. In this connection he said:

"President Taft recently directed to the Hon. Harry S. New of Indiana, chairman of the subcommittee on arrangements of the Republican national committee, a letter asking that the fullest possible publicity be given the proceedings preliminary to the national convention."

"In accordance with the request of the president, the Republican national committee voted to admit to its meetings representatives of the newspaper associations serving practically every daily newspaper in the country with their news service."

Hilles Arrives.

Charles D. Hilles, secretary to the president, arrived and joined Representative McKinley at the Taft headquarters. He is in direct touch by special wire with the White house at Washington and is keeping Mr. Taft constantly advised of developments.

The Rosewater and Howell contest, it was expected before the committee met, would develop the first test of strength between the Taft and Roosevelt members, and its postponement was variously construed.

TRAIN WRECK CAUSED BY STORM

Engineer of Freight Was Unable to See Flagman Because of Blinding Rain.

Fort Smith, Ark., June 7.—In a blinding rain storm a southbound St. Louis & San Francisco freight train crashed into the rear end of a preceding freight train between Parry and Monett, Mo., at midnight. Three men were injured, hundreds of chickens and sheep killed and great property loss resulted. The storm was so severe that the first freight train was forced to stop as it reached the foot of a four-mile hill. A flagman was sent out to warn the on-coming freight train but the latter ran past the flagman because of the darkness and torrent of rain.

Commerce Commission Holds Up Proposed Change—Would Be Hardship to Travelers.

Washington, June 7.—New regulations of transportation of baggage proposed by nearly every railroad in the United States, which in effect would advance the rates on "excess" were suspended by the interstate commerce commission effective July 1 pending investigation. The new regulations sought to prohibit the carriage of certain size pieces.

The commission believes that the fixing by the roads of the dimensions of baggage will work an unnecessary hardship upon travelers.

SHOTS END FAMILY QUARREL

GRANDPARENTS WOUNDED PROTECTING CHILD.

Father of Boy Then Commits Suicide When Hard Pressed by Angry Crowd.

Leonard, Mo., June 7.—While protecting their grandchild, Charles Upton and his wife were shot and dangerously wounded by Thomas Ralls, their son-in-law. To escape being captured, Ralls committed suicide.

Ralls was separated from his wife, who had left him several months ago on account of mistreatment, and, with her two-year-old son, came to live with her parents. Ralls had made several attempts to get the child. May 1 he came to his father-in-law's home and demanded the boy. Upton refused to let him take the child and picked it up and started for a buggy. Angered by the refusal Ralls said:

"I'll have the child or your life." With that Upton fired at Ralls, slightly injuring him. Ralls then had Upton arrested, but he was discharged as he had acted in self-defense.

Early in the morning Ralls went to the Upton home. The family saw him coming and hid the boy in the closet. Without knocking, Ralls entered and began shooting. One shot struck Upton in the chest and penetrated the lung. Another bullet struck his wife. The shots attracted the neighbors and Ralls fled. Officers and a crowd followed and overtook him three miles from town. As they came up he shot himself in the head and died within a few minutes.

Upton's chances of recovery are slight, but Mrs. Upton's wounds are not dangerous.

A HARMLESS WAY TO DARKEN THE HAIR

A Little Sage and Sulphur Makes Gray Hair Vanish—A Remedy for All Hair Troubles.

Who does not know the value of Sage and Sulphur for keeping the hair dark soft and glossy and in good condition? As a matter of fact, Sulphur is a natural element of hair, and a deficiency of it in the hair is held by many scalp specialists to be connected with loss of color and vitality of the hair. Unquestionably, there is no better remedy for hair and scalp troubles, especially premature grayness, than Sage and Sulphur, if properly prepared.

The Wyeth Chemical Company of New York put out an ideal preparation of this kind, called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, in which Sage and Sulphur are combined with other valuable remedies for keeping the hair and scalp in clean, healthy condition.

If your hair is losing its color or constantly coming out, or if you are troubled with dandruff or dry, itchy scalp, get a fifty cent bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur from your druggist, use it according to the simple directions, and see what a difference a few days treatment will make in the appearance of your hair.

All druggists sell it, under guarantee that the money will be refunded if the remedy is not exactly as represented. Special Agent, Koch Pharmacy.

Grandma's Colic

By John Philip Orth

(Copyright, 1912, by Associated Literary Press.)

Grandma Burbanks had a little grandson, six years old, and that little grandson and 5 cents' worth of raw peanuts brought about a case of the colic, a thunder-storm, a misunderstanding, a case of love and a very happy marriage. When all was over the old lady thought she had done very well for a woman of her age.

It was the grandson that bought the raw peanuts and brought them home to divide them with grandma. She couldn't have eaten a peck, for there were not that many to begin on, but at eight o'clock in the evening, as she was tucked away in her bed, the pains began. Mr. and Mrs. Burbanks were away for the night; Harry, the son, twenty-three years old, was in town and not expected out until the midnight train; the grandson was asleep, and the house was in charge of Miss Dorothy, aged nineteen.

There are various remedies for colic. There are hot drinks, mustard plasters and whisky with pepper in it, and it may be cured in ten minutes or everything may be found useless. After Miss Dorothy had worked away for half an hour she decided that the doctor must be sent for.

"Is that Dr. Holmes?" she asked when she telephoned in to the village, three miles away.

"The doctor is out and not expected back until after midnight," was the reply.

Dr. Winchell was tried. He was also out. The druggist thought he could put up something for that colic, but he had no boy to send. Grandma groaned out with every breath that that breath was the last she expected to draw in this world. The girl must harness the pony and drive to the village for the remedy. Grandma might die during her absence, but she promised to live if she possibly could. As she was deaf, the house would have to be locked up.

Miss Dorothy was so rattled that she didn't notice the thunderstorm coming up until she had driven a mile or more. Then a flash and a reverberation and a few drops showed her that she was in for a time. Five minutes later and the pony refused to face the storm. When held up to it he wheeled and started for home on a gallop, and did not pause until he had brought up under a shed. The girl ran for the house to discover that she was locked out. A spring-lock and her mislaid key had done it. She tried window after window in vain. It was no use to call to a deaf woman in her bed upstairs, or hope to awaken the boy whose peanuts had brought the trouble about. The girl was cowering on the veranda, dodging the flashes and scolding herself and all others, when the lightning showed her the figure of a man with a bag in his hand coming up the walk. He looked long and lank, and he dripped gallons of water.

The stranger was after shelter. He did not ring the bell, but got what shelter the veranda afforded and did not even look around him. Miss Dorothy was ten feet away, and believed the stranger a tramp until he muttered:

"Well, of all the blank fools in this state you take the cake!" He had the voice of a gentleman, and he swore like a gentleman. A real gentleman's swearing is not swearing. It is only for emphasis. Instead of being shocked, Miss Dorothy waited to hear:

"No hurry to start out tonight, and yet you were blank fool enough to think it would be a romantic walk! Well, you've got the romance of it! Soaked from head to heel and more coming!"

Miss Dorothy liked the voice. She liked to realize that she wasn't the only fool to start out in the face of the storm. She liked it when the stranger gave himself a shake like a collie dog after a swim, and mumbled:

"Call yourself a doctor and yet run

the risks of such an exposure! Sore throat, cold in the head and backache to pay for this. Say, Doc, it would serve you blank right if some of the people inside fired a charge of bird-shot at you and drove you off. Lands, but how it does pour!"

Miss Dorothy had heard the man call himself a doctor, and her thoughts leaped to poor old grandma. She knew the doctors she had telephoned for, and this was neither of them. The case demanded a little boldness on her part, however, and she advanced a step or two and asked:

"Did I understand you to say you were a doctor?"

After a jump aside and an exclamation of "Good Lord!" the man replied:

"I can't make out who you are, but I am a doctor, driven to shelter by the storm. If I trespass I am ready to go."

"No, no. I had started to the village after medicine for my grandmother when the storm drove me back. She is suffering with the colic, and I should call this an act of Providence if we could only get into the house."

"Locked out, eh? I am a new doctor just about to set up practice in the village, and I have a bag of remedies with me. Let's see what sort of a burglar I am. Perhaps one of my keys will open the door."

One of them did, and as soon as he could throw off some of his outer garments he was at the bedside of his patient. Grandma was having a hard time of it. Indeed, it was hours before she was easier, and the two worked over her now and then, and now and then had opportunity to talk. A doctor with his first patient, and a girl with a grandmother suffering from so many raw peanuts, don't have to stand on ice-cold formality.

When Harry reached the house from the midnight train he almost made up his mind that they were quite chummy. He didn't do any criticizing, however. He loved his grandmother, was happy her life had been saved, and he wasn't the kind of brother to offer his advice simply because he had a sister. The only thing he did say was after breakfast, and that was partly to himself:

"The ways of Providence are past finding out. Those peanuts and that thunderstorm may bring me a brother-in-law."

"You need some one to get you home earlier," was the reply; and matters rested there.

Grandma heard all about the storm and the providential appearance of Dr. Burnett, and when he called the next afternoon to see if she had fully recovered she was very grateful. Mr. and Mrs. Burbanks were in the room with the patient and doctor, but that did not prevent the old lady from saying to her son:

"James, I thought surely my time had come, and there was only one thing that I worried about. You know what I have often said to you?"

"I don't recall it at this minute," was the reply.

"Why, that we ought to have a doctor in the family. We can't get one through Harry, but we can through Dorothy. I wish you would have a talk with her today."

Just what the son and his wife thought, and just how the blushing girl got out of the room without falling over the rugs is not recorded, but this much the historian knows—the doctor bent forward at just the right instant to feel grandma's pulse and to warn her that at her age a person shouldn't swallow too many wooden toothpicks nor eat too many raw turnips just before going to bed. He didn't look over-red nor over-pale when he left the house, half an hour later.

Dr. Burnett became popular in the village. In driving out that way he always had time to make a call at the Burbanks' mansion, and after a bit it rather looked as if Miss Dorothy expected him about once in so often, but it was months and months before grandmother's mind was put at rest. After saying that she expected the next attack of colic to carry her off she said:

"That is, unless we have a doctor in the family."

"He—he asked me today if the family would take him in!" was the whispered reply from behind her chair.

"And you said the family would—and we will—and oh, dear me, I almost wish I had the colic again and was hearing the angels strumming on their harps!"

Why We Rap on Wood.

In Farm and Fireside is the following explanation of the origin of the superstition that rapping on wood is a good thing to do when one makes a boast:

"The superstition of rapping on wood when one has been betrayed into boasting of a special bit of luck, like immunity from illness, etc., is of German origin. The raps were supposed to drive away evil spirits vexed by vaunted happiness or any piece of good fortune."

"The three raps originally signified the three persons of the Trinity, Father, Son and Holy Ghost, and the necessity for rapping on wood was because that has the material of the cross."

Echoes From the Woods.

"Woodman," said the man who quotes poetry but lamely, "withhold the ax with which you are about to lay low this sturdy oak, thereby preserving a valuable asset to posterity and sparing yourself greater fatigue than the object striven for justifies."

"I see," replied the woodman; "you are a man of scientific ideas and seek to employ the energy of conservation to the conservation of energy."
